Initial Presentation of Winter Plays

BY DON AUTOR

Carmel players delighted an overflow audience at Arts and Crafts Hall last Friday evening, marking the inauguration of a series of winter productions.

As early as 7:30 groups of expectant ticket holders began arriving and in a brief period the hall was crowded and many who expected to attend were reluctantly turned away.

Charles King Van Riper, in a few well chosen words, announced the purpose of the productions: a means of giving pleasure both to the performers and to their friends, to gain experience in acting and to augment the personnel of Carmel players; the proceeds to be used to defray the expenses, and the surplus to be given to any chosen local organization—in this instance Mrs. E. A. Kluegel of the Forest Theatre and Mrs. M. E. Hand of the Arts and Crafts Club were requested to draw from a jar a a colored strip of paper, the blue to be the winner; Mrs. Hand won.

The first play, a fantasy by Mr. Van Riper, "Treasures," was as novel as it was effective, and the originality of the conception as well as the philosophy it contained, gained much applause

The setting was unique—a small boy's pocket, full of his treasures—a marble, a top, a peg, a knife, twine, a locket, a match. These imbued with thought and feeling, and finally evolving a satisfying philosophy, left the audience agreeing that it is much better to be in a pocket as long as we give joy and pleasure to the owner, for it is only by giving joy to others that we attain our own measure of happiness.

The second offering of this talented group was Rossetti's beautiful play poem, "Sister Helen," rather an ambitious medium for young players, but none the less creditably portrayed. Stress may be laid upon the setting, which was truly beautiful. A splendid reading of this classic poem was given and a lovely picture of tragic distress was Miss Katharine Cooke.

The problem play of "1999," a ludicrous comedy, was hilariously received by the delighted audience, almost every line evoking spontaneous laughter from young and old, and the splendid poise of the cast places them in the star class.

After the curtain, much approval was heard, and one well qualified to judge, Annie Laurie, remarked: "It is one of the most delightful group of theatricals I have ever seen."

Much gratitude is felt by Carmelenos to those who created this revival of interest in the winter production of plays and congratulations are extended upon the success of their initial effort.

Pine Needles

Mrs. Calvin Hogle is at home after a week's sojourn in San Francisco.

Contractor Parkes has concluded the construction of the Boyce residence in south Carmel.

Noah Whitney left early Monday morning by auto for Los Angeles. He will be away about ten days.

Dr. Amelia L. Gates, of San Francisco, well known in Carmel, was a guest at Hotel La Playa last week.

During February all the local Saturday movies will be Metro pictures, thus giving us a variety of new stars.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon motored to Watsonville to visit friends last Monday, and returned home the same evening.

Mrs. Charles Clark is in San Francisco this week, a delegate from All Saints to the convention of the House of Churchwomen.

The hot tamales at Curtis' are beyond our vocabulary to describe, the increasing demand and daily shortage tells the story.

Mrs. James K. Lynch, of Alameda, is visiting in Carmel. Mrs. Lynch is planning to build here and become a permanent resident.

Have a half tone or zinc engraving of your home, studio or business house. Bring your photos. The Pine Cone Press will do the rest in A1 style.

Frank G. White, of Berkeley, Chief Engineer of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, with his family recently concluded a visit to his mother and sister in Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Laumeister of Palo Alto spent the week end in Carmel. Mr. Laumeister is a strong advocate of good streets in Carmel, where he has property interests.

The County Treasurer reports the following amount on hand in funds concerning Carmel: Sunset School bond, $35.21; Carmel Sanitary bond, $1,680.92; sanitary expenses, $201.44

Mrs. W. B. Bonfils (Annie Laurie) distinguished newspaper woman, spent several days in Carmel last week. She was a part time guest at the home of Theodore S. Solomons, and of the Misses Perry and Swett.

The giant pear on exhibition in the Pine Cone's Ocean avenue window is the gift of Mrs. Charles Clark. It was produced in Redding, and is evidence of the agricultural possibilities of that remarkably fertile region.

What have for years been known as the Kellogg lots on Santa Lucia avenue, and which last year were sold to H. W. Morse, have again changed owners. The identity of the new owner will be announced on completion of the necessary legal formalities.

The Monterey High School student body has announced a competitive contest among the body for the best short story, to be published in their annual student publication. Several Carmel students will enter the contest with excellent prospects of bringing the prize over the hill to Carmel.

Capt. H. B. Tomkins went to San Francisco last week on business, and returned on Saturday evening.

Dr. George White occupied the pulpit at the Carmel Church on Sunday last and delivered a very interesting sermon.

Ross Carson, an architect of San Francisco, has been visiting the H. C. Richards family at their home on Casanova street.

"Sunny Jim" Mason was a week-end sojourner here. He says the Pine Cone is always a welcome visitor at the Examiner office.

The Young Men's Club is considering introducing an athletic section, starting with basket ball. A "hike" is planned for the near future.

Traveling to and from Panama recently, our old friend Michael Williams was on the same steamer with President-elect Harding.

Otto Lachmund, who has been spending a brief vacation here with his mother, is on his way back to Duluth, where he is in the bond business.

Dr. Glassell and Mr. McLean are occupying the cottage heretofore known as the Bauer house, on Carmelo and Eleventh, now owned by Mrs. Jennie Coleman.

Harry J. Coleman made a hurried visit from San Francisco last Sunday to his family. He announced to them that he will return within a few days to remain a week.

The party or parties who are cutting down green and healthy pine trees on and near the Eighty-acre Tract are advised to desist, or else the heavy arm of the law will be upon them.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Seideneck returned to Carmel last Thursday night. Mr. Seideneck and Miss Catherine Comstock were married at Santa Rosa, where the bride's parents reside, last week.

After several postponements, assurances are now given that the interesting comedy, "The Man From Mexico," will be presented at Arts and Crafts Hall in about three weeks. It should draw a record house.

The old tennis court on Ocean avenue, west of the Joy Ellington bungalow, has been sold to C. H. Yates, a resident of Corcoran and owner of other Carmel properties. Mr. Yates will erect a bungalow studio on his new acquisition.

The house moving to the new Josslyn residence, next to the Forest Theatre, took place Monday. Each motor load of furnishings on Ocean avenue en route was presented over by driver Winsor, each time wearing a different head gear.

Carmel had a small fire on Sunday afternoon. It was at one of Mrs. R. J. DeYoe's cottages on Fifth street, between Dolores and Lincoln streets, occupied by Mrs. McCall. One side of the roof was burned. The fire was started by an overheated stove-pipe igniting the shingles.

New Ocean Avenue This Summer

With a full membership in attendance on Tuesday night, the city Board of Trustees adopted unanimously the initial resolution having to do with the proposed improvement of Ocean avenue. Resolution No. 83 is one giving notice of intention to modify and change the grade on that thoroughfare. The contractor, whoever he is, can complete the work inside of a hundred days, after the legal preliminaries are out of the way, so that we can look forward to a newly paved street this summer.

Another matter that will interest the taxpayers is the requirement that the Standard, Associated, and other oil companies delivering their products here will be required to pay an annual license of $25.

A resolution amending the electric wiring ordinance was adopted making the ordinance apply "only to the fixed electrical wiring in scientific laboratories, and shall not apply to the use of machines, apparatus and accessories, and the wiring or conduits for the same which are used for experiment or research work."

The board will meet again next Thursday night, when it is planned to put into effect further legal proceedings affecting street work.

No Guardianship For "Honey Man"

Edmund C. Sterrett, "The Honey Man," as we know him in Carmel, is competent, according to a jury in the Superior Court, to handle his own affairs. Testimony upon which the jury based its verdict was offered last week in Salinas by Mrs. Catherine More-Curtis, Dr. J. E. Beck, C. O. Goold and Mrs. Jennie Coleman. In a masterly manner Argyll Campbell, attorney for the 78-year old Palo Colorado pioneer, presented the facts to the jury, and the verdict establishing his competency was returned in seven minutes.

Meteorological Phenomena

On Wednesday, January 26, at 10:30 p. m., a rainbow, with one point resting on Point Carmel, was witnessed by two reputable Carmelenos. With the Volsted Act in full force here, full credence must be given to the statement. We know of no reason why the refraction of the moon's rays falling on watery particles in the heavens should not mirror a rainbow. To the unique scenery of Carmel Bay must be added lunar rainbows.

Play-Readers Meet

"Carmel's Play-Readers" meet each Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Freeman cottage on Casanova street in north Carmel. To read plays, usually one long and one short one. The meeting is informal—no invitations are issued. All who are interested are cordially welcome to enjoy and participate in the pleasant fireside readings. At last week's meeting there were about thirty in attendance.

Pebble Beach Notes

Col. and Mrs. F. H. Poole, of Pasadena, are making improvements in their residence.

A number of new bridle paths are being cut through the forest and run along Carmel Bay.

Work has been going along on the Pebble Beach aviation and sport field and this will be completed shortly.

A. W. Goodfellow, of Fresno, has purchased an additional three acres to his home site, which is located on a knoll overlooking Carmel Bay and the golf course.

Pebble Beach residents are pleased to know that the City of Carmel is contemplating improvement of the roadway connecting the two sections. Many will do their shopping in Carmel.

Mrs. Harriet C. Moore of Kansas City has completed a very beautiful Spanish type of home. Mrs. Moore is the sister of Geo. T. Cook, of Kansas City, who has one of the most picturesque places at Pebble Beach.

Roger D. Lapham, business man of San Francisco, who is one of the best golf players in the State, has purchased a homesite in the Del Monte Forest overlooking the golf course. He intends to build a forest lodge and will spend much of his time there.

A number of new buildings are being contemplated at Pebble Beach. Among those who are having plans drawn are Mrs. Corrine Dillman, of Sacramento; Fred Rodgers, of San Francisco; George A. Pope, of Burlingame; Mrs. C. E. Floete, of Michigan; Mrs. W. C. Van Antwerp, of Burlingame; John S. Cravens, of Pasadena, and Natt Head, of Del Monte.

ABOUT BOOKS AND AUTHORS

Guess Charlie needs the money. Announcement is made that Charles A. Keeler, Berkeley poet, is to give a series of fourteen lectures on Thursday nights at the Hotel Whitecotton. His subjects will include: Tales of adventure and poems of the South Sea Islands and the Orient. Talks on life after death and on present day life. The Problems of Bolshevism and Democracy in their relation to World Peace.

Mind Energy; by Henrie Bergson. A collection of essays, ranging in date from 1901 to 1913. Bergson belongs to that characteristically modern group of thinkers who were helped by psychology to realize the limitations of the methods and concepts of the mathematics—physical sciences. This is the root of Bergson's famous distinction of "intellect" and intuition—and who, through a deepening of psychology have sought a way to a metaphysical theory of reality as creative life and mind. Bergson was one of the earliest and most powerful critics of the "parallelistic" theory of the relation of body and mind.

Recently recommended in the bulletin "for young people and adults" were "The Romance of Promoters," with Earl Williams; two of Carlyle Ellis' productions dealing with women in industry, "When Women Work" and "From Whistle to Whistle;" "The Big Idea," from the Educational Films Corporation; "The Woman God Sent," with Zena Keefe; "The Charm School," with Wallace Reid; "Edgar's Little Saw," a Booth Tarkington comedy; "Number, Please!" with Harold Lloyd; "Park Your Car," with Harry Pollard, and "Christmas Greetings," a Ford-Goldwyn picture.

With a list of 11,000 volumes which he purchased practically in all parts of the world, George T. Clark, Librarian of Stanford University, is back on the campus after a year of travel in which he encircled the globe.

Clark sailed from San Francisco for the Orient last January with a "want list" comprising 6,310 volumes, which the University had been seeking for some years.

In London Clark obtained twelve editions of Shakespeare, the most interesting of which is the Rowe edition, published in 1709-10.

A number of rare and valuable volumes of French classics was secured by the librarian in Paris.

Life in early days in California, before the rush of gold seekers had brought new excitement to the outpost of old Spain, is re-created in a romantic love story, "The Bride of Mission San Jose," by John Augustine Cull. Cull, himself a Californian, has steeped himself in the atmosphere of those days of the early forties, and tells a story of adventure and love, wherein Indians, padres, Spanish governors and English and American commanders figure before peace and happiness come to the fair Senorita Mendoza and her valiant lover, Captain Morando. The strife between England and America over California furnishes an international background to this historical romance.

Knut Hamsun's latest novel, "The Women at the Well" is another story full of charm and realism, full of intense and cumulative interest. The scene is laid in a small town on the southern coast of Norway, and the well or town pump in the market place is the clearing house for village gossips.

The hero, a sailor by the name of Oliver, has sustained a vital injury, so that as the years go on he becomes stouter and more effeminate, yet he marries and has five children. Oliver's relationship to his children is doubted, but he is still the hero. The women gossip at the well, and the charm, humor and realism of the story show the value of the small incidents of life and advocate contentment and tolerance.

Among the activities ascribed to George Sterling, his latest sonnet, appearing in "The Sonnet," has been described as the best. He calls it "Good and Evil" and is well worth quoting:

GOOD AND EVIL

From near to far, from lowly to sublime,
All things are central and all things are one,
Bound by a bond that shall not be undone.
Though reason's lily blossom from the slime.
An equal urge have Holiness and Crime,
And kindred swords from the parental sun,
From out whose flaming wool their mail was spun,
To hold them deathless in the war of Time.
Though now the wings of Ormuzd, wrought of light,
Take iris and enchantment of the day,
Still Ahriman, deep in the needed night,
Shall hold the stars as jewels in his hand,
As he, the lord of darkness and decay,
Ordains foundations where Life's feet shall stand.

ARTISTS AND THEIR WORK

At the Whitney Studio Club, New York, are two remarkable paintings by Twachtman—sensitive renderings of snow—a problem for which the painter propounded a solution almost as exquisitely fragile as that of native itself.

Following are book on art recently issued:

Lustre Pottery. By Lady Evans.

Design and Tradition. By Amor Fenn.

A Handbook of Indian Art. By E. B. Havell.

The Aesthetic Attitude. By Herbert S. Langfeld.

Modern Movements in Painting. By Charles Marriott.

Among the artists invited to exhibit at the H. K. McCann exhibition to be held in San Francisco from February 23 to March 5, are Armin Hansen, Charlton Fortune, Francis McComas, Maynard Dixon, Guittardo Piazzoni, William Ritchel, Frank Van Sloun, Clark Hobart, Maurice Del Mue, Lee Randolph, Constance Macky, Spencer Macky, Arthur Mathews and Arthur Putnam. This list includes some of the best known artists on this coast and lack of space forced the committee to be conservative and to restrict the exhibtor to two canvasses or pieces of sculpture.

A. Phimister Proctor, sculptor, whose home is in Palo Alto, has received notification of his election to life membership in the Beaux Arts Club of New York City. He has also been chosen by the American Sculpture Society to make a small bronze piece, which will be copied for presentation to lay members of the society.

Proctor is just now working on an equestrian statue of Theodore Roosevelt and a model of "The Circuit Rider," which is to be presented to the State of Oregon by R. A. Booth, son of a pioneer circuit rider of Oregon.

The millenium in art will have arrived when Raphael and Rembrandt displace comics and cartoons, but that self-same day is coming—at least, so says Jo Davidson, artist and sculptor of the Peace Conference, just returned to his native land. Davidson forsees, not far off, circulating art galleries which will permit folks to take home and enjoy for a week rare works of art that now hang in monotonous rows in museums. A circulating art gallery, according to Davidson's idea, could be operated along the lines of a circulating library, except that borrowers might be required to furnish bonds sufficient to more than cover the values of rare works.

The Cunard Line has issued a book for children which has been distributed in the public schools and is entitled 'Around the World Painting Book for Children." As the book opens the pages on the left hand are artistically colored and those on the right are in bare outline, left so for the child to fill in with the colors printed on the opposite page.

The pictures include, the "Western War Front," the "Cathedral of Rheims," the "Tower of London," the "Rock of Gibralta," "Naples and Vesuvius," the "Colosseum at Rome," the "Sphinx," the "Pyramids," the "Holy City of Jerusalem" and the "Wonderful Skyline of New York." The book is being distributed free throughout the United States and Canada.

The Director of Fine Arts of the Carnegie Institute, announces the twentieth annual international exhibition of paintings, to be held during the months of May and June next. It is the aim of the Carnegie Institute to bring together a representative group of works by the best contemporary painters of all nations. Official reports have been received from England, Scotland and France. These show that the total number of works coming from England and Scotland is larger than last year, while the French representation will be in number about the same. Belgium, Italy, Norway, Spain and Sweden will contribute fully as many as were contributed to the last international exhibition. Reports from various cities in America have not yet been completed. It is said that at least two Carmel artists will send pictures.

Antony Anderson, in the Los Angeles Times, calls attention to the exhibition of landscapes by Ada Belle Champlin and Francis Clark at the Battery Gallery in Pasadena.

By Miss Champlin are "The Sentinel," with its crowned pine seen against a green sea and tawny headlands; "Eucalyptus Grove," "Morning on the Rocks," "Morning on Carmel Coast," and that fine play of color, "A Topango Hillside."

By Miss Clark, whose work is on the opposite wall and equally "opposite" in method of expression, if not always in subject, are "Up the Valley," "In the Harbor."—a tender scheme of greys and subdued reds; "Indian Summer," "At the Sea, Carmel," "The Moonlit Sea," "The Sea," "The Opal Sea." There is something to please in each and every one of them.

At the Walpole Galleries in New York a noted collection of Japanese color prints is on exhibition. The prints are of a high order of importance, having been collected by a distinguished Frenchman, who began collecting over thirty years ago. The collector's first consideration being the artistic quality of designs, consequently some of the prints are not in the best condition. Much emphasis is laid upon this fact and it has perhaps been overrated, as color is subject to some deterioration and is influenced by the ageing of stock selected by early printers. This foible has stimulated a new art, that of reinforcing color by over printing from new blocks, which of course lessens the value.

The strength of this collection is that no modern re print is to be found by reason of the fact that such a remarkable group of artists is represented—Kiyonaga, Shuncho, Eishi, Toyokuni's famous triptych, "Six Women Washing White Cloth," Utamaro's triptych "Taiko and His Five Wives;" "The Sudden Shower of Raiu," by Hiroshige, and many others of equal interest.

THE PINE CONE is devoted to Art, Letters, Music and the Drama, as well as to the business and social affairs of Carmel and vicinity. News items and original contributions pertaining to these subjects will be welcomed by the News Editor.

WHY INCREASED TAXES?

Every citizen of California is a taxpayer.

Taxation is, therefore, your concern.

You pay direct on property, or you pay indirect taxes through transportation, light and power costs, in interest rates, or in the cost of merchandise and rent.

So you want answers to these two questions :

1—How much money is actually needed by the State, with proper economy, and Why ?

2—How shall this money be raised, and Why ?

What the Tax Investigation and Economy League IS

Three hundred thousand of our people, security holders in public utilities, banks and other companies taxed for state purposes, together with an equal number of employees of these companies, are represented by the Tax Investigation and Economy League, which has been organized to learn and make public the facts about the actual needs of the State government. Non-partisan and non-political, this league invites the co-operation of every citizen.

Such Facts as These Are Pertinent

Governor Johnson's 1915 budget for two years called for $36,000,000
Governor Stephens' 1919 budget for two years called for $47,000,000
Governor Stephens' 1921 budget for two years calls for $81,000,000

--An increase of $45,00,000 over the budget of six years ago--
--An increase of $34,000,000 over the budget of two years ago--
--An increase of $15,000,000 over the budget of two years ago even after we allow for all the appropriations and expenditures authorized by the people at the November elections.

It is Time for Economy

For all of us the era of extravagance should be ended. That our present state organization costs too much and is full of unnecessary duplications and unnecessary expenses, is agreed by state officials and the public alike.

We ought to know, and we want to know now, how much money is being wasted. We ought to know whether the new demands on our pocketbooks are necessary demands.

No Ad Valorem Tax

One thing is already sure. If the $15,000,000 now asked, in addition to the money voted last November is saved to the public,

—Our existing revenue will pay all our bills--we will have a surplus in the treasury two years hence---there will be no ad valorem tax.

The legislature is the authority that shall determine how much money shall be raised, and what rates of taxation are fair.

It is the privilege and duty of every citizen who has facts to present, and conclusions based on these facts, to assist his representatives in reaching a just decision.

You will be kept advised of the results of our investigation. Your own views and conclusions are respectfully invited.

1504 HUMBOLDT BANK BUIDING - SAN FRANCISCO

"The Power to tax is the power to destroy"

California's First Newspaper

On August 15. 1846, The Californian was printed in Monterey. Walter Colton, formerly chaplin on board the U. S. S. Congress and first Alcade of Monterey, was editor-in-chief, assisted by Semple "an emigrant from Kentucky, who stands six foot eight in his stockings. He is in a bucksin dress, a foxskin cap, is true with his rifle, ready with his pen and quick at his type case."

The press, the only one in California, "was an old Ramage press, of wooden frame, wooden bed and plates of hardwood, worked by a screw and capable of making one hundred impressions an hour." It had been brought around the Horn to Monterey from Boston in 1833 by Thomas Shaw. Its original cost was $400 and was used by Governor Castro and his secretary to print official documents and proclamations.

"One half the paper is in English, the other in Spanish. Our alphabet: Our type is a Spanish font picked up here in a cloister (probably Carmelo Mission) and has no w's in it, as they are none in Spanish. I have sent to the Sandvvich Islands for this letter; in the meantime vve must use tvvo v's. Our paper at present is that used for vvrapping segars. In due time vve vvill have something better Our object is to establish a press in California and in this vve vvill probably succeed. The absence of my partner for the last three months and my duties as Alcade here have deprived our little paper of some of those attentions vvhich I hope it vvill hereafter receive."

The following is from The Californian: "The press was old enough to be preserved as a curiosity; the mice had burrowed into the balls; there were no rules, no leads; the types were all rusty and in pi. It was only by scouring that the letters could be made to show their faces! A sheet of tin was procured and with a jackknife were cut into rules and leads. Luckily we found with the press the greater part of a keg of ink, and a small supply of paper was secured from that used to envelope the tobacco of the cigars smoked by the natives."

"In The Californian of August 29, Semple, a bachelor, wrote: 'The ladies, who are numerous, are handsome and some of them beautiful, very sprightly, industrious and amiable in their manners; affectionate to their relatives and friends; kind to their neighbors and generous even to their enemies; and we are in hopes that their mild and genial influence will go far to bring about that amity of feeling which is so desirable between the old and new citizens of this highly favored country.'

"The Californian's only rival as purveyor was the Washtub Mail. Just on the outskirts of Monterey were some springs which were the washtubs of the town. Thither went the maid servants and the housewives who could not afford servants. Each babbled of the things that she saw and heard in her home. Often, too, a young man would stop there to chat with his favorite. But their real information came from the Indians, always on the move, who stopped at the springs and from the politicians who told some news that they might learn more. For the Gringos, who necessarily were not numbered among the intimate friends of the prominent Californians, the Washtub Mail was the one means of hearing any 'town talk.' For a trinket, a new mantilla or a piece of gold, these washerwomen would tell anyone the very latest news. It was almost sure to be true, too, for they wanted people to come again with more gold pieces and bright scarfs. 'It is an old mail,' said Alcade Colton, 'that has long been run in California and has announced more revolutions, plots and counterplots than there are mummies in Memphis.' Only when a love story was involved did the Washtub Mail prevaricate. No one bought love stories, so there was no need for them to be true.

"In May, Semple went to Yerba Buena (now San Francisco) and took with him the printing press of The Californian. He kept on issuing the paper until 1850. A rival sheet, The California Star, made its initial appearance in 1849. The following year they combined under the title: Alta Californian The old Monterey press then journeyed to Sacramento and on it the Placer Times was printed at Sutter's Fort. Thence it was taken to Stockton and used in the publication of the first journal in that city. It was then taken to Sonora and for several years used for printing the first newspaper there. It finally went to Columbia and was burned by an incendiary because of trouble with the editors of the Columbia paper."

WE ENTER OUR SEVENTH YEAR

ON THIS date in 1915 the Carmel Pine Cone, a four-page publication, with pages 10 by 12 inches, was born.

The material—type and small job press—was purchased two years before when the editor was employed in the local postoffice; it was then stored in the rear of the old bowling alley, and on the occasion of a fire there the editor was much concerned and had visions of delay in publication plans.

One day there came a rumor that a Los Angeles man was planning to start a newspaper here. The following week the Pine Cone was born.

That was six years ago. Since then the paper has grown in size, importance and influence. It has taken the lead in many public affairs and has always maintained its ideal, i.e., to be decent. It has published no scandal, no crime records.

The allied printing business has flourished. To such an extent has the business expanded that the editor and his capable wife have found it necessary to have assistance, and in this it is most fortunate that Mr. Arthur Coleman is now part owner and business manager.

The proprietors of the Pine Cone do not take full credit for this local achievement. We owe much to the townpeople and neighbors who have believed in us and our efforts and have purchased our advertising space, subscriptions and printed matter.

The past of the Pine Cone is written. Its future is vizualized by the management as bright, inasmuch as its policy has been stamped with approval by its hundreds of readers. It contemplates serving Carmel residents and visitors with social and business news of the community, as well as of the literary, musical, dramatic and art world.

"We thank you."

Save the Wild Flowers

At the regular meeting of the Outdoor Art League of the California Club in San Francisco last week, plans were made to enlist the Congress of Mothers Clubs and teachers of all schools to impress upon the children the necessity of the preservation of our wild flowers. Support was also pledged to the Save the Redwoods League.

The Passing of the Sequoia Club

The All Arts Club organized for the association of recognized artists devoted to music, drama, literature, architecture, sculpture, painting, dancing and the art crafts, came into being on January 14, in San Francisco. At the initial meeting Antoine de Valley was chosen President and the Board of Directors is composed of Lillian Bermingham, Bertha Stringer Lee and Henry H. Taylor.

The All Arts Club will fill a long felt want in the hearts of the intellectually inclined since the Sequoia Club has become purely social and has lost all trace of its original character. The Sequoia Club had its inception a great many years ago and was formed and named by Mrs Charles Aiken, then Ednah Robinson, a playright.

At first the members met at the different homes, there to exchange views on art in its various branches and to stimulate and develop by interchanges of ideas the general interest in subjects of art, or as the founder stated to the writer, "To get mental stimulation without cocktails."

The Pine Cone can handle that job of printing for you at the right price.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK, CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, COUNTY OF MONTEREY, STATE OF CALIFORNIA:

I, Sadiee Van Brower, Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, a Municipal Corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of the delinquent tax list of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea on the Assessment Roll of 1920 for the fiscal year 1920.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand as such Clerk and the official seal of said city, this 22nd day of January, A. D. 1921.

(SEAL)

SADIEE VAN BROWER,
Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

OFFICE OF THE CITY MARSHAL AND EX-OFFICIO TAX COLLECTOR OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all the delinquent tax payers and property owners mentioned and set forth and described in the foregoing tax list on the Assessment Roll of 1920 for the fiscal year 1920, in and for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea a Municipal Corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, that unless the taxes delinquent, together with the costs and percentages due, as in the above delinquent list set forth, are paid on or prior to Monday, the 21st day of February, A. D. 1921, at ten (10.00) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the real property upon which said taxes are a lien will be sold to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea by operation of law and by my declaration for the payment of such taxes, per centages and costs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand as such Marshal and Ex-Officio Tax Collector this 22nd day of January, A. D. 1921.

AUG. ENGLUND,
Marshal and Ex-Officio Tax Collector of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

The features of this girl portray the finest type of Polish childhood that now lies engulfed in hunger and disease and all their attendant miseries. Relief already administered by America has preserved her beauty and freshness, albeit her eyes betray the suffering she has seen, but literally millions in her own and adjacent countries still have no one to look to but America as another winter of horror closes in upon them. To the end that their prayer may not go unanswered eight leading American relief organizations have banded together in a joint appeal in behalf of Europe's suffering children. They are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Relief Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Shaw's Play as the Viennese Saw It

The reception accorded Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House" in Vienna, is thus described by an English correspondent:

"The audience was, I believe, disillusioned. Up to the beginning of the second act the spectators had obviously expected that Shaw was about to tell them a story. They swiftly realized, however, that the only consecutive narrative running through the drama is the imminent marriage de convenience between the poetic Ellie and the prosaic Madgar.

"As soon as the audience discovered that plot was conspicuously absent from the theme they laboriously concluded that it must be an allegory they were witnessing. But Shaw's symbolism evaded them. There was applause, somewhat tenuous, and the immaculate director, Herr Reinegas, expressed the author's gratitude. The audience left, perplexed and groping. Shaw's house, from which they had, perhaps, anticipated something less English and more cosmopolitan, left them heartbroken."

Traditions About Wild Buffalo in Northern Canada Proved to Be True.

Edmonton, Canada.—The phantom herd of the North has been found. For years a tradition of a great head of buffalo somewhere in the Mackenzie river basin has lingered among the fur posts. Indians told of sighting it blackening the wild pastures of remote valleys. No white men had seen it. But trappers had chanced upon its trampled trails and ten years ago two mighty bulls that had straggled far from their fellows were killed.

F. H. Kitto, engineer of the natural resources branch of the Department of the Interior, who has returned from five months of explorations in the Mackenzie country, reports that he saw the herd, and estimates it at 1,000 head. He received reports, he says, from Indians that another herd equally as large exists farther north.

Canada has the largest bison herd in the world in the National park at Wainwright. January 1 it numbered 4,335. With the exception of 90 animals that still live in untamed freedom in the northern fastnesses of Yellowstone park the Mackenzie river herds are the only wild buffalo left on the continent.

COAST VALLEY BILLS DUE ON THE 15th

Coast Valleys Gas & Electric Company has issued notices reminding its customers that all gas and electric bills are due and payable within fifteen days after the end of the month. The most of its customers pay their bills within that period, and in fairness to those who do pay, promptly, the Manager of the company states that it will have no choice but to enforce the rule indiscriminately which requires payment of bills within the time prescribed by law. Delayed payments too frequently results in uncollectable bills which ultimately reflects in the cost of doing business and tends to increase rates for the people who do pay their accounts. The company feels that the fairest way to handle this business is to adhere to an absolutely non-discriminatory prompt collection policy for everyone, and it asks all of its customers to co-operate by paying their accounts between the first and fifteenth of the month at either of the Company's offices, 458 Alvarado Street in Monterey or 217 Grand Avenue in Pacific Grove.

On the fourth and fifth of the month Carmel patrons may pay at the office of the Carmel Development Company. adv

PEOPLE ARE ENTITLED TO THE TRUTH!

Men's Clothing HAS Dropped Wholesale and we are reducing it Retail

$30 to $45 $30 to $45 $30 to $45

For the Best Suits and Overcoats in Stock

You can depend on this store to tell you the truth first, last and always—and here it is: The manufacturers of nearly every prominent line of men's and young men's clothing announced a drop in price November 15th.

This drop does not effect any present stocks bought prior to November 15th and for that reason a great many otherwise wise merchants are arguing that you are not entitled to lower prices until this manufacturers' reduction strikes their own pocketbooks. We think differently.

You, people of Monterey Peninsula, should not be asked to pay full prices when prices are on the downgrade, and even though this stock was bought and paid for before this manufacturer's reduction went into effect—we are protecting you, just as we said we would do—and we have cut every Suit and Overcoat in this store.

The above prices tell the story—read them—and take advantage of them.

We are simply showing our friends that we are absolutely straight and true—and while no store or man deserves a medal for being honest—we would like to go down in your memory as willing to take our medicine—like gentlemen.

Borglum Head of Lincoln to be Unveiled

The bronze casting of the head of Abraham Lincoln, presented to the University of California several years ago, has been mounted on a pedestal at the base of the Campanile and will be unveiled with simple ceremonies on Saturday, February 12, the one hundred and twelfth anniversary of the birth of Lincoln. The head is by the American sculptor, Gutzon Borglum. Since it became the property of the University it has been stored in the basement of the University library.

Through the generosity of Ralph W. Kinney of Piedmont, a granite pedestal for the head was planned and prepared by Professor Perham W. Nahl of the art department, and Professor Samuel J. Hume of the department of English.

The base to support the statue has been designed by Professor John Galen Howard, director of the school of architecture of the University.

It has been planned to place the bronze head at the south base of the Campanile.

Gutzon Borglum is a brother of Solon Borglum, creator of "The Pioneer" at the exposition in 1915. Born in Idaho in 1867, the sculptor studied in San Francisco and in the Academie Julien and the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. He received the honorary degree of master of arts from Princeton University in 1909. He received a gold medal for his sculpture from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

Borglum's statues are often of colossal proportions, among them the Twelve Apostles for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, the Sheridan monument in Washington, D. C., and the Henry Ward Beecher statue at Brooklyn.

Lincoln has been a character of special appeal to Borglum. The statue to be unveiled at the University stands three feet above the pedestal and is one of the sculptor's finest studies.

MUCH IS TOLD BY PROVERBS

Household Sayings Throw Light on Characteristics of Social Groups Whence They Emanate.

It is a commonplace to say that a nation's moral code is revealed in its proberbs; but it is less widely recognized that proverbial sayings throw light also upon the long-standing economic structure of a social group. A proverb is not an individual observation; it condenses the experience of a class, a sex, a caste. A large number record the accumulated experience of the small peasant proprietor, his ceaseless labor and petty saving and screwing. "While the sheep blates he loses a mouthful."

The economics of married life are often tersely laid bare. "A wooden mother is better than a golden father" (Shropshire) must be taken from the outlook of a wife who would be summed up in a national census as "home worker."

"A rolling stone gathers no moss," says the wisdom of the staid British countryman, diligently making the best of his land by long and careful husbandry. "By going and coming the bird builds its nest" is the opposite point of view held by a Negro trader traveling backward and forward through the African forest.

Bawbees are round and rin away.
A grip o' the grund is gude to hae.

expresses the land-hunger of a Scotsman of the old school, mistrusting "investments" which he cannot see and handle.

Here is a trio from Norway: "A large stock needs much pasture." "A cow will not hear that the hay is dwindling away." "You cannot climb a mountain by a level road." Do they not sum up certain aspects of the little farm perched up amid scanty mountain pastures?

Factory life, a modern growth everywhere, has not yet left its mark upon the proverbial lore of any country because it has not yet been fully assimilated as a mode of self-expression. The proverb is everywhere a spontaneous growth, for "shoes alone know if 'tocking hab hole," as they say in Jamaica.

Dramatic Notes

Gordon Craig, the producer, is to visit America this year as the guest of George Jean Nathan. In Mr. Nathan's "The Theatre, the Drama, the Girl," just published, there is a chapter on the movies headed "The Deaf and Dumb Menace," in which the well-known critic of things theatrical makes some remarks which are said to have caused considerable trepidation in the ranks of the film magnates.

John Drinkwater, whose "Abraham Lincoln" is soon to be given in San Francisco, is again in America for a visit. Since his return to England Mr. Drinkwater has completed two plays, one about Mary Queen of Scots and the other about Oliver Cromwell. Commenting on these plays in a letter from London St. John Ervine recently said: "It would not astonish me to find that both these plays are produced in American before they are produced in England."

Murray Hill in his Travels says: "I was greeted by the friendly fist of my old friend, Alfred Kreymborg—benedict now, published poet, acted playwright paid lecturer, accomplished moustache-wearer and cane-carrier, whom I used to know as a denizen of Fourteenth Street, about fifteen years ago, before he was any of these things."

The name of Alfred Kreymborg calls to mind the very original and amusing entertainment presented by that author with his marionettes and lute at Arts and Crafts Hall here a short time ago.

Fritz Leiber, the young Lochinvar of the Shakespeare field, will return to New York about Easter and resume his triumphant presentation of the plays of Shakespeare. In his late and first stellar engagement, he established a position high in the artistic archives of dramatic art and Shakespearean interpretation. He is now being recorded as more than a pleasing and intelligent actor, he is a new disciple of the modern Shakespeare which implies an intelligent adaptation of the plays of modern thought without in the least desecrating the ancient custom.

The complete print of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" as it has been put into film form was brought to New York recently. The Metro executives, it is reported, were greatly pleased with the picture, and are now negotiating for a Broadway theatre, where they hope it will have a long run. They expect to present it to the public about February 20. Vicente Blasco Ibanes, who worked with Miss June Mathis on the scenario before his return to Spain, has written to the president of the Metro Pictures Corporation, expressing enthusiastic approval of the set of still photographs of the photoplay sent him by the company.

Mrs. H. S. Howard of the Berkeley Theatre of Allied Arts committee has announced the dramatic program for the coming four months. Four productions are being arranged for, and tryouts for parts in the first offering are now being held.

The initial offering comes on March 7, when "All of a Sudden, Peggy," by Ernest Denny, is the bill. The second offering will be "Bagdad," by Kenneth C. Perkins, on March 28. Alfred Sutro's "The Perplexed Husband," comes on April 25.

One of three dramas will be chosen for production the latter part of May. "The Piper," by Josephine Preston Peabody, and "Prunella" are being considered.

VOTE EXPLAINED

Assemblyman Daniel McCloskey, in a conversation with a Hollister newspaper representative, gave his reasons for voting against the bill taxing the corporations.

He stated that he was in favor of taxing the corporations, and would vote for such a bill at the next session of the legislature, but that he wanted time to take the matter up with the voters he represents before deciding either way, and the only possible way to do this was to kill the bill presented. For this reason he voted for the corporations as he knew another similar bill would come up at the next meeting of the legislature.

GETTING TOGETHER

Carmel as a center for the development and study of the drama is receiving quite an impetus just now. In addition to last week's presentation of plays by a new group we are pleased to note the informal organization of drama lovers who are holding weekly readings and discussion of plays.

The record crowd at Arts and Crafts Hall last Friday evening emphasized two facts that have been obvious to observers for some time. First, that Carmel is permanently on the map as a winter resort for Californians as well as Easterners, and second that with a popular leader enthusiastic support is ever at hand. Literary and dramatic talent abounds here, and with it aroused by the success of last Friday, Carmelenos may confidently contemplate continued and progressive interest in things dramatic.

WE SHOULD CELEBRATE

February, the shortest month of the year, has two important national holidays and a day devoted to Cupid.

First, on the 12th, comes Lincoln's birthday—an occasion of greater honor and significance as time enhances the saintly attributes of the great President's character and the affections of a nation center upon him as hero and ideal.

Next, on the 14th, we have Valentine Day, and it is appropriate that love, which nourishes the spirit of freedom, should be celebrated along with the birthdays of two of freedom's greatest exemplars.

And last, on the 22nd, we celebrate the natal day of George Washington. We associate with the event not alone an era which gave us the father of a great and enduring democracy, but one which quickened the cause of freedom throughout the world.

Ballad of the "Pine Cone"

By HERBERT HERON

[This poem was first published in the initial number of the Pine Cone and was reprinted far and wide.]

The growing pine-cone hangs upon the tree,
Protected by the needles like a screen;
Clear indication of the Cone to be:
Now young and full of sap, a tender green—
The springtime softness of the nectarine—
So rich in promise, though but new and small,
Among the elder boughs the sea-winds glean,
And every little while the Pine Cones fall.

The changing pine-cone, now a harmony
Of emerald and russet brown, is seen:
By Nature's wonderful and firm decree
Turning through sunlight to a finer scheen
(As a young princess turns into a queen).
The sea-wind rises, and a sudden squall
Comes on the larger boughs that swing serene,
And every little while the Pine Cones fall.

The ripened pine-cone sways above the lea—
Ripe nut that tinkles like a tambourine:
As fine a cone as one would wish to see.
Firm in the growth of seasons strong and clean—
Holding its fruit till winds shall intervene;
Its color now a perfect brown, where tall
Bright summer suns have softly kissing been
And every little while the Pine Cones fall.

The Carmel Pine Cone bursts upon the scene,
With youth and sap, with color, fruit and all;
Our local press, our weekly magazine . . .
And every little while the Pine Cones fall.

Music Matters

Richard G. Herndon, who had the honor of bringing Nance O'Neil back to her deserved place on the American stage when he presented her in "The Passion Flower" with such tremendous success, confirms the report that this colorful play has or will be made into a grand opera.

Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, who was formerly leading soprano of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company and internationally known teacher of singing, has recently returned to the United States after a year's absence, and will permanently locate in San Francisco, where she will give a series of soiree musicales, the first of which is scheduled to take place during the early part of February.

The lovers of good music in New York appear to be limited only to the size of the buildings. J. Piastro Borissoff, the brilliant Russian violinist, appears next month in concert with the picturesque and melodious Cantor Joseph Rosenblatt. Borissoff already has filled Madison Square Garden with devotees of his art, and there is no larger building in the United States available for concerts than this.

One of the most delightful of recent musical collections not only to the ear but also to the eye is entitled "Refrains de France," edited by Gustave Ferrari. It comprises twelve French folksongs, "all of which," says Mr. Ferrari, "handed down through centuries either orally or in writing, have dwelt on the soil and in the hearts of French for generations, and will dwell there as long as the beautiful language of France shall endure."

Musical training particularly essential to those who wish to become composers or even to have a thorough understanding of music will be given in San Francisco by the Extension Division of the University of California. Two classes will be conducted by Miss Florence Guppy. One course will be in the fundamentals of music, the other in harmony and the principles of melodic construction. Registrations may be made for these classes at the classroom at the San Francisco office of the University Extension, 140 Kearny street, or at 301 California Hall, Berkeley.

Some four years ago Miss Lorraine Wyman and Howard Brockway published a collection of twenty-five folk-songs from the mountains of southern Kentucky. They have now gathered twenty more from the same source, which are published by the Oliver Ditson Company in a volume entitled "Twenty Kentucky Mountain Songs." The words were collected by Miss Wyman, the tunes by Mr. Brockway, who has also added the piano accompaniments. The volume is dedicated to the memory of William Creech, the founder of the Pine Mountain School, a native of the mountains, whose letter, let it be said here, stating his idea of the need of such a school and signifying his intention of giving his property for that purpose is one of the most touching, distinguished and significant documents ever produced in this country.

The proposition to unite the municipalities of Pacific Grove and Monterey will not down. It bobbed up at the recent Monterey chamber of commerce banquet, and a committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Annual Festivities of San Carlos Sunday School

Last Sunday afternoon was the occasion of a most enjoyable event at the Mission Tea House, near the Mission at Carmel. About twenty smiling, eager children, together with parents and friends, gathered under its hospitable roof. One of the noted guests was Annie Laurie. To greet them were Rev. Father Mestres and Mrs. Kate Hatton, the fairy godmother, who provided most of the refreshments and presents which were distributed to the children.

Warm words of welcome were spoken by Father Mestres. Under the direction of Thomas Vincent Cator the choir rendered several selections. As a special feature Mr. Cator played some of his own compositions, which were much appreciated. The solos by Vasia Anikeeff and C. Lerup were rendered with great feeling. There were also also songs and recitations by Irene Goold, Ruth Cator, Beatrice McDonald and Carmelita Machado.

Following the program bountiful refreshments were served and marshmallows toasted at the fireplace, after which all departed, feeling that they had a most enjoyable time.

Items of Interest

The list of names drawn for trial jurors in the Superior Court includes the following: Miss Saidee Van Brower, C. O. Goold and James Hopper.

The Junior Boys' Club held their first meeting Tuesday, with a good attendance. Games, a story and refreshments filled the evening. The next meeting is uncertain, but the boys are asked to look for the bulletin.

City Trustee George M. Dowart is quite "set up" these days. He has a new job and a new title. It goes like this: Assistant Colaborating Epidemiologist of the United States Public Health Service. Salary, $1 per year.

Unanimous endorsement was given the Marshall Plan for water reclamation by the League of California Municipalities at its Saturday session in Sacramento. After a talk by Colonel R. B. Marshall, in which he explained the benefit to be derived by municipalities from the development he proposes.

On Monday, February 7, Dickens' birthday will be celebrated by a Book Party, under the auspices of the Arts and Crafts Club at their hall. Every one is requested to represent the title of some book. Look at the books on the library shelves for suggestions. Bring your own lead pencils.

A few extra values in diamonds, mounted and unmounted, that always make lasting gifts. We can make you terms. Call and get a free book on "WHY DIAMONDS GROW IN VALUE." Our new line of rings is the best made. Bring your repair work to us. Mission Art and Curio Store, Monterey. adv

Resolution No. 83.

Resolved By the Board of Trustees of the City of Carmel-by-the Sea, in the County of Monterey, State of California, that it is the intention of said Board to order the modification and change of the grade of the curbs as heretofore established on either side of Ocean Avenue in said city from the west line of Junipero Avenue to the west line of San Antonio Avenue to that which is shown upon the grade map of said street between said two points, which map was filed in the office of the City Clerk of said city on the 1st day of February, 1921, reference to which map is hereby made for all of the particulars of said proposed change of grade.

This resolution of intention shall be posted conspicuously for two days on or near the council chamber door of this Board, and shall be published by two insertions in the Carmel Pine Cone, a weekly newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in said city, and which newspaper is hereby designated for that purpose, and for the purpose of the publication therein of the notice of change of grade and all other notices required to be published herein by the provisions of an act entitled "An Act to Provide for Changing and Modifying the Grade of Public Streets, Lanes, Alleys, Courts and Other Places Within Municipalities," approved April 21st, 1909, and the amendments thereof.

Adopted this 1st day of February, 1921, by the following vote:

Ayes—Trustees: Kibbler, Murphy, Arne, Derwart, Reardon.

Noes—Trustees: None.

Absent—Trustees: None.

Approved this 1st day of February, 1921.
